ASSOCIATION PUBLICATION WINS AWARDS

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Association Management Company, IntrinXec Management, Inc. announced today that Precision Manufacturing journal, the trade publication of the Minnesota Precision Manufacturing Association (MPMA), received an award in the Association TRENDS All-Media Contest. IntrinXec Management, Inc. publishes Precision Manufacturing while managing the MPMA.

Precision Manufacturing received the Bronze Award in the Trade Association Magazine category. The All-Media contest received over 400 submissions in 26 categories.

In 2008, Precision Manufacturing received the Award of Communications Excellence for a Periodical Magazine/Journal from the Midwest Society of Association Executives. The publication is one of the largest and longest running magazines devoted to manufacturing in the United States. Precision Manufacturing provides readers with a variety of pertinent information, such as development in international trade, suggestions for effective marketing and advances in precision manufacturing equipment. In 2009, the publication launched its enhanced online version connecting readers across the globe. “We are proud to publish Precision Manufacturing. It’s wonderful to see the publication continue to grow and expand throughout the years,” said IntrinXec President, Jaime Nolan, CAE.

Association TRENDS is the national newspaper for association executives and suppliers for the latest news, information and trends in association management for the professional staff of international, national, state, regional and local voluntary organizations. For more information visit
